Generate Health
2023 Advocacy Agenda

Generate Health mobilizes and inspires the St. Louis region to advance racial equity in pregnancy outcomes, family well-being, and community health.

In St. Louis, Black moms and babies are dying at a higher rate than any other race. This pattern isn’t caused by individual choices or behaviors – it’s due to the long history of racist structures and policies that have shaped our region. Generate Health’s vision is zero racial disparities in infant and maternal mortality by 2033. To achieve this, we are mobilizing our coalition of partners, providers, and community leaders to transform St. Louis’ health care and social support systems so that Black women and birthing people experience their desired pregnancy and birth outcomes. We envision a future where Black families are supported by our entire community and pregnancy and birth are a time of joy and celebration.

We participate in advocacy efforts in a variety of ways:

- We drive advocacy by centering community voice and participation in decision making, determining strategies, and bringing stakeholders together around shared issues.
- We support advocacy by participating in local and state coalitions and bringing community members with lived experience and partner expertise to the process.
- We monitor issues by tracking policy developments, speaking out for or against issues impacting maternal and child health, or moving up in action if needed.
